THE IMPACT OF MALTESE TAX LAWS ON THE FINANCIAL SERVICES INDUSTRY

TUESDAY, 03 APRIL 2012

The seminar will discuss Maltese tax laws which impact on the local financial services industry. The tax treatment of income from participations, profit participating loans, credit instruments and portfolio investments will be discussed at the seminar. Local rules relating to the tax treatment of collective investment schemes, protected cell companies, securitisation vehicles, insurance companies and other regulated entities will be discussed too. The tax treatment of persons who work in the financial services will be discussed with practical examples.

THE SPEAKER

Robert Attard has been described by the Court of Appeal as ‘a leading commentator on tax law’ (Case 3/2010) and has published several books on tax law. The Courts of Appeal have referred to his books on tax (more recently, Emanuel Zammit v. Kummissarju tat-Taxxi Interni Appell). Robert is Director Tax Services at EY and an Editorial Board Member Lexis-Nexis Butterworths (EU Tax Tracker Project). Robert has served as Visiting Professor at the University of Ferrara, lectures at the University of Malta and has paid lecturing/speaking visits at Queen Mary (University of London), CTL (University of Cambridge), Salerno (with Wirtshaftsuniversitat Wien and Naples II) and the University of Palermo (PhD Program on Human Rights jointly held with the Brussels Academy of Legal Theory). He has recently contributed to Studies in the History of Tax Law, Volume 4 (an initiative of CTL, Faculty of Law, University of Cambridge) and Legal Remedies in EU Tax Law (Hart Publishing Oxford).
